

Memo from JOSHUA LEDERBERG

To: E. B. Van Nieuw

Dear Kees

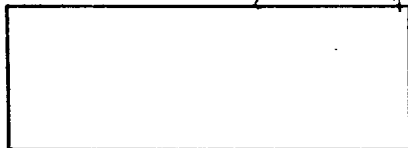

DEC 13 1973

I knew you would want to be told the horrible news that Wolf Vishniac was killed in some sort of climbing accident in Antarctica, where he was studying microbiology in extreme habitats (a propos Maur).

I am sorry to have to be the bearer of such information.

Yours, Joshua.

P.S. Thank you for your kind intentions (albeit unwelcome) to the Conby's injury.

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG
Department of Genetics
School of Medicine
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305